

12E: Stratton-Glebe complex, 25 to 50 percent slopes, very rocky

The Stratton component makes up 40 percent of the map unit. The natural drainage class is well drained. Water movement in the most restrictive layer is low. This component is on mountains on glaciated uplands. The parent material consists of coarse-loamy till. Depth to a root restrictive layer, bedrock, lithic, is 10 to 20 inches.

The Glebe component makes up 30 percent of the map unit. The natural drainage class is well drained. Water movement in the most restrictive layer is low. This component is on mountains on glaciated uplands. The parent material consists of coarse-loamy till. Depth to a root restrictive layer, bedrock, lithic, is 20 to 40 inches.

Important farmland classification: NPSL

Land capability: 7 s

Vermont Agricultural Value Group: 11

Vermont Residential Onsite Waste Disposal Group and Subgroup: IVb

This unit is generally not suited as a site for soil-based residential wastewater disposal systems, based on a review by the Natural Resources Conservation Service of criteria set forth in the Vermont 2007 Environmental Protection Rules. Steep slopes in association with the depth to bedrock is the limiting condition. Cut and fill site modifications that reduce the slope gradient are difficult to achieve due to the depth to bedrock.
